

SAFECOM Nationwide Survey

Point Estimates by Item

Rev. 2024.07.16

Overview

This file contains aggregate response data for the 2023 iteration of the SAFECOM Nationwide Survey \(SNS\). The SNS is a national data collection initiative sponsored by SAFECOM and executed by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency (CISA). The SNS invites members of the public safety community to share information regarding their organization's emergency communications capabilities and gaps. The target population for the 2023 iteration of the SNS included Fire & Rescue (FIRE), Law Enforcement (LE), Emergency Management (EM), Emergency Medical Services (EMS), and Emergency Communications Centers/Public Safety Answering Points (ECC). This file presents findings for respondents from the local level only (including county and municipal public safety organizations). All members of the targeted disciplines at the local level were invited to participate in the SNS. After data cleaning and validation, 4,933 useable responses were received from organizations at the local level. A "useable" response refers to a partially complete response that includes response selections for at least one substantive question beyond demographics. Due to attrition, questions near the beginning of the survey generally have greater response data than questions near the end of the survey.

Information Contained in this Resource

The Item Inventory (beginning on the page two) provides a full-text inventory of SNS questions and response options contained in this file. A survey "item" refers to a discrete decision point at which the respondent was asked to provide a response. For questions that asked the respondent to select one response (SOR), each enumerated question is an item. For questions that asked the respondent to select all responses that apply (SATA), each available answer option is an item. This file reports results at several levels of aggregation: all respondents, each discipline (five total), each of three predefined urbanicity categories (three total), and each discipline-urbanicity intersection (or "substrata," 15 total). Due to sensitivity of some items, not all items are reported, and all results are described in aggregate only.

All quantitative values in this file are sample proportions of respondents who selected the indicated response. The value "NR" indicates that no respondents selected an available answer option for non-demographics questions.

Caveats

Information provided in this resource is intended for educational and research purposes. It is provided "as-is" and may be subject to revision as the underlying response dataset undergoes additional refinement and enhancement. Users of the resource should take care to note that quantitative findings in this file are compatible with many interpretations and causal accounts, and that the public safety and emergency communications ecosystem across the United States is diverse and complex. For guidance on interpreting survey results, assistance accessing additional SNS data products, or to report a problem with this file, please contact the SAFECOM Nationwide Survey Team at sns@cisa.dhs.gov.

Item Inventory. The table below lists all items and corresponding descriptions contained in this file (618 total). The Item Name column lists the names of items as they appear in the SNS dataset. The Question Text and Response Options columns contain the question and response options text as it appeared to respondents participating in the survey. All available answer options for select one response (SOR) question formats are given in the same item, indicated with right carats (>).

D02_5) Rural-Urban Continuum Code (RUCC) assignments and definitions given by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA). Within SNS data tables, Metro organizations are defined as those with RUCC 1; Urban are defined as those with RUCC 2-4; and Rural are defined as those with RUCC 5-9. (Synthetic: derived from respondent-provided county.) Note: when respondent-provided county information was not available, RUCC was approximated using respondent-provided ZIP, resulting in the small observed rates of urbanicity inconsistency with RUCC codes caused by ZIP code splits across multiple counties with different RUCCs.
