Interagency Security Committee (ISC) Stakeholders,

I hope this finds you safe and healthy in the current environment. A special thanks to our security professionals and other essential workforce on the frontline.

Perseverance will guide us through the current environment and the lessons learned will make us more resilient in the future. Speaking of perseverance and applying lessons learned, we owe much to those who worked after the bombing of the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building to further the recovery of the community and to create the Interagency Security Committee "to provide a permanent body to address continuing government-wide security for Federal facilities".

Leading up to the 25th Anniversary of the creation of the ISC on October 19, 2020, we will continue to share our history and milestones through this Commemorative Series and our Anniversary website. We have also developed a special 25th Anniversary Word Mark (please see below).

Our location within the Cybersecurity & Infrastructure Security Agency (CISA) provides us great opportunities to partner with other parts of the agency for the benefit of our members. This not only includes the Office of Bombing Prevention (OBP) but also our Training and Exercises Division whom we recently collaborated with to produce a federal facility tabletop exercise package. You can find the resources located at Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency Tabletop Exercise Package (CTEP). We hope that your organization or facility will use it to help increase your resiliency against the very kind of threat which precipitated the creation of the ISC almost 25 years ago.

Thank you for your continued partnership to defend today and secure tomorrow.

Very Respectfully,
Daryle
